

Proposed Domestic Building Environmental Standards (Scotland) Bill

Introduction

A proposal for a Bill to introduce new minimum environmental design standards for all new-build housing to meet the Passivhaus standard or a Scottish equivalent in order to improve energy efficiency and thermal performance.

The consultation runs from 4 May 2022 to 27 July 2022

All those wishing to respond to the consultation are strongly encouraged to enter their responses electronically through this survey. This makes collation of responses much simpler and quicker. However, the option also exists of sending in a separate response (in hard copy or by other electronic means such as e-mail), and details of how to do so are included in the member's consultation document.

Questions marked with an asterisk (*) require an answer.

All responses must include a name and contact details. Names will only be published if you give us permission, and contact details are never published – but we may use them to contact you if there is a query about your response. If you do not include a name and/or contact details, we may have to disregard your response.

Please note that you must complete the survey in order for your response to be accepted. If you don't wish to complete the survey in a single session, you can choose "Save and Continue later" at any point. Whilst you have the option to skip particular questions, you must continue to the end of the survey and press "Submit" to have your response fully recorded.

Please ensure you have read the consultation document before responding to any of the questions that follow. In particular, you should read the information contained in the document about how your response will be handled. The consultation document is available here:

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill? Please note that this question is compulsory.

Partially opposed

Please explain the reasons for your response.

We are supportive of the principle behind the bill but feel it is a huge step to take at a time when costs are rising dramatically. It would make sense to increase design energy efficiency and improvement in construction standards through current building standards. Raise design level to 'Silver' rather than current Bronze and increase to Passivhaus 'Gold standard' over time.

Q2. Do you think legislation is required, or are there other ways in which the proposed Bill's aims could be achieved more effectively? Please explain the reasons for your response.

Further legislation is not required at this time but minimum standards should be increased and building to higher standards including Passivhaus should be incentivised through Scottish Government grants

Q3. Which of the following best expresses your view on setting the Passivhaus standard or a Scottish equivalent as the most appropriate new build housing standards to contribute to eradicating fuel poverty?

Partially supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response.

Eradicating fuel poverty is not solely a heating issue. We should focus on a higher living wage to enable people to meet their basic needs. Energy suppliers also have a significant role to play

Q4. Which of the following best expresses your view on setting the Passivhaus standard or a Scottish equivalent as the most appropriate new build housing standards to contribute to a reduction in emissions?

Partially supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response.

We need to improve standards over a period of time using Scottish building standards

Q5. Which of the following best expresses your view of the process set out to ensure that the new standards are met in all new build housing? (see pages 14 to 16 in the consultation document)

Partially supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response, including your views on how effective the process would be in removing the 'performance gap' and on how the proposed verification process might work in practice.

Improving standards over time will allow Housebuilders, Social landlords and Building Officers to achieve the necessary skills to ensure standards are achieved

Q6. What could be the market effects of the introduction of this proposal?

Costs will increase and standards will not be achieved as construction industry is not ready and number of verifiers needed will not be in place. Experience has shown that actual costs usually exceed those predicted.

Financial Implications

Q7. Any new law can have a financial impact which would affect individuals, businesses, the public sector, or others. What financial impact do you think this proposal could have if it became law?

a significant increase in costs

Please explain the reasons for your answer, including whom you would expect to feel the financial impact of the proposal, and if there are any ways you think the proposal could be delivered more cost-effectively.

Whenever changes are proposed a cost increase is inevitable as has been evidence by sprinkler systems. Costs to deliver in islands will also be higher. Social landlords are struggling to keep new build costs down and this proposal will only lead to an increase unless incentivised. Future maintenance costs will increase to deal with specifications for air tightness and air quality.

Equalities

Q8. Any new law can have an impact on different individuals in society, for example as a result of their age, disability, gender re-assignment, marriage and civil partnership status, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation.

What impact could this proposal have on particular people if it became law? If you do not have a view skip to next question.

Please explain the reasons for your answer and if there are any ways you think the proposal could avoid negative impacts on particular people.

No Response

Sustainability

Q9. Any new law can impact on work to protect and enhance the environment, achieve a sustainable economy, and create a strong, healthy, and just society for future generations.

Do you think the proposal could impact in any of these areas? If you do not have a view then skip to next question

Please explain the reasons for your answer, including what you think the impact of the proposal could be, and if there are any ways you think the proposal could avoid negative impacts?

As stated at the outset we are supportive of the principles behind the bill and these would in all likelihood enhance sustainability. However we do not believe that the bill is the best way forward and could potentially be counter-productive in terms of progress towards sustainability – at least in the short term as the market and industry struggle to adapt.

General

Q10. Do you have any other additional comments or suggestions on the proposed Bill (which have not already been covered in any of your responses to earlier questions)?

None
